Re: Pacer Stacktrain Web-Based System For UPRR Gate Reservations

Dear Valued Customer:

As mentioned in several previous Stack Facts, Pacer Stacktrain is currently building a web-based tool to accept and process in-gate reservations for the UPRR Gate Reservations Program. We expect to roll out this tool in several weeks.

To accelerate the roll-out process, we are requesting that all IMCs and International customers sign up for the security access that will be required once we transition to this web-based system. You can sign-up by sending an email to gaterez@pacerstack.com with the following information for EACH user who will access the system:

- IMC or Ocean Carrier Company Name, Street Address, City, State, & ZIP
- 3-letter Shipper Code
- User's Name (first, last)
- User's Phone Number
- User's Email Address
- Current Log-In ID for www.pacerstack.com (if any)

Please submit this information by June 1, 2005. We will contact each user with their username and password confirmation once the web tool is ready. A Stack Facts will be issued with details about the new system once the date for cutover to web-based reservations is finalized.

If you have any questions about signing up for your web-based reservations log-in, please contact Un Kim at 714-450-1413.

For your information:

More details about the current procedures for in-gate reservations can now be found on our website at: http://www.pacerstack.com/services/services_notlogged_faq.html

The Union Pacific has announced their intention to implement the Gate Reservation Program system-wide by peak of 2005. We will continue to provide updates via Stack Facts whenever this roll-out affects your shipments with Pacer Stacktrain.

If you have questions about in-gate reservations procedures, please contact Un Kim (714-450-1413) or your Business Development Representative.

We appreciate your business.
